LIL BOSS

Tonya Renee Banks, born on July 6th in Torrance, California, is an American film actress who has worked as an actress and stunt performer in TV and film for over 30 years.

Tonya has been cast in many projects, including National Geographic's "Genius: Aretha"; a documentary series based on the life of 'Queen of Soul' Aretha Franklin; played by Academy nominee Cynthia Erivo; where Tonya was cast as Aretha Franklin's best friend, Sammie Bryant.

Tonya has appeared in numerous film, television, commercial, music video, and theater productions. She has appeared in "Bad Santa", "Death to Smoochy", and "The Internship Games", where she was the first female African American little person to be cast in a leading role. She has also appeared on several TV shows including but not limited to "Rickey Smiley", "Martin", and "The Hughleys".

Tonya is currently allowing viewers to get a glimpse into her world as a little person on Lifetime's "Little Women of LA". In this docu-series, with over 8 seasons under her belt, Tonya exemplifies a big personality, a big heart, and humongous drama as she shares her experiences and adventures in the life of a little person.

In addition to being an actress, Tonya is also a multi-faceted entrepreneur. While busy running her production company "One Bossey Productions LLC"; where she has Producer credits, she has also ventured into the fashion world - developing her athletic clothing line "Lil Boss Body", which was created for women of all sizes because "Bosses Come in All Sizes". She also successfully launched her Red Blend wine company "L'TonyaRenee", and is a self-published author of her autobiography "It's Not What You're Called, It's What You Answer To".

As one of the very few African American little women in Hollywood, Tonya aspires to be the first African American little woman to win an Academy Award. Tonya has no hidden agendas - what you see is what you get! She does not allow any grass to grow under her feet, loves to stay busy, and hates to be bored.
